INTELLIGENCE KNOWLEDGE CHECK

`TRUSTED`   `Financial services / Cryptocurrency exchange`   `Recognized entity`

binance.com is the official domain of Binance, one of the world's largest cryptocurrency exchanges. It is a well-established, reputable entity with a long operational history and recognized branding. There are no indications from known threat intelligence that it has been associated with malicious activities or infrastructure abuse.

SCAN EVIDENCE VERDICT

90 /100   `LOW RISK`

The domain binance.com is a well-known, reputable cryptocurrency exchange with a long operational history and no known malicious associations from prior intelligence. The real-time scan confirms its legitimacy, showing a valid SSL certificate from a trusted issuer, proper DNS records, and no threat flags on common blocklists. While some security headers are missing, this is typical for large, high-traffic sites and does not indicate malicious intent. Overall, the evidence strongly supports that binance.com remains a trusted and safe domain.

1. Continue monitoring for any future threat intelligence updates related to binance.com.
2. Implement security headers such as HSTS and Content Security Policy to enhance security posture.
3. Maintain regular scans and ensure SSL/TLS configurations remain current and properly configured.
4. Verify DNS records periodically to detect any unauthorized changes.
